

History & Training

The MANX ROAD CLUB was established in 1938. Today we are one of the most successful cycling clubs in Great Britain and our members are involved in every type of cycling.

The club boasts a squad of Olympic, World, Commonwealth, European and British Champions such as Mark Cavendish, Ben Swift and Peter Kennaugh.

The Manx Road Club, is sponsored by Manx Telecom and club members can enjoy social rides suitable for beginners and experienced cyclists most weekends.

The club organise time trials and road races throughout the season and has a number of coaches available to assist with training and coaching such as the popular turbo training evenings that are held throughout the winter. If you are new to racing, we can provide advice and help you get started.
